Saïd Business School, University of Oxford

The role

The Sales and Customer Relations Team is the driving force in enabling Executive Education to achieve its growth ambitions to double revenue in 3 years, and to realise its full potential as a leading player in the global Executive Education market. Within this Team, the Programmes Sales Team plays a critical role in ensuring the success and growth of Executive Education Open Programmes to individuals seeking to benefit from our insights and expertise in developing their leadership and career potential.

The Senior Programme Consultant is the first point of contact for executives approaching Executive Education to obtain information on their options for a learning journey. The role holder is responsible for the cultivation of a relationship with prospects, instigating conversation about their objectives and advising them to the most appropriate programme in our executive education portfolio. The Senior Programme Consultant will be responsible for converting leads into programme applications and a revenue in excess of £1.5m per year.

They will primarily work with individual executives looking for a programme for their own purposes. They will gain knowledge across a range of programmes and delivery formats and advise appropriately on all options. They will pass on opportunities for customised programmes, or from Learning and Development Managers looking for programmes for groups of executives to relevant colleagues across the Sales and Customer Relations team.

This role will involve liaising and collaborating with the Executive Education Marketing Team, following up on the leads generated to develop relationships with prospects, participants alumni. The role will involve occasional travel, representing Executive Education and the wider school and University, attending events and engaging in networking opportunities.

Responsibilities

- To be the first point of contact for inbound Executive Education programme enquiries, identifying the prospects interest and suitability
- Taking forward the prioritised leads and making contact for further engagement, developing relationships with prospects
- Conducting consultation calls to assess prospects interest and development objectives in a professional manner, advising them on programme content, experience and logistics.
- Advising prospects on the application process and next steps or passing them to an appropriate colleague if required.
- Conduct interviews after an application is received and assess suitability for programme, recommending suitable next step such as accept / reject /interview with the Programme Director and / or recommend alternative programme.
- Maintaining a database of prospects using the Said Business School Salesforce system, scoring incoming leads to prioritise for follow up, then tracking follow on communications
- Maintaining accurate lists of applicants across programmes, including receipt of payment to confirm the participant's place, and supplying this to programme delivery colleagues, faculty and other colleagues.
- Developing knowledge of Oxford's Executive Education offering and understanding of customer requirements to be able to recommend the appropriate programme or next steps. This will be a portfolio approach, product and format agnostic.
- Prepare recruitment reports, identifying and reporting trends across application or programme evaluation data to the Associate Director, Programme Sales.

- Maintain excellent relationships with executive education alumni to increase referrals which benefit the portfolio or enhance our standing in the rankings, working closely where appropriate with the School's Alumni Relations team.
- Continue to nurture partner / corporate relationships after the programme.
- Work closely with programme co-ordinators and the programme administration team, to enhance the participant experience.
- Contribute to the annual Business School rankings exercise.
- The Senior Programme Consultant will guide and develop Programme Consultants in their team. They will deputise for the Programme Sales Manager if required.

About the University of Oxford

Welcome to the University of Oxford. We aim to lead the world in research and education for the benefit of society both in the UK and globally. Oxford's researchers engage with academic, commercial and cultural partners across the world to stimulate high-quality research and enable innovation through a broad range of social, policy and economic impacts.

We believe our strengths lie both in empowering individuals and teams to address fundamental questions of global significance, while providing all our staff with a welcoming and inclusive workplace that enables everyone to develop and do their best work. Recognising that diversity is our strength, vital for innovation and creativity, we aspire to build a truly diverse community which values and respects every individual's unique contribution.

While we have long traditions of scholarship, we are also forward-looking, creative and cutting-edge. Oxford is one of Europe's most entrepreneurial universities and we rank first in the UK for university spin-outs, and in recent years we have spun out 15-20 new companies every year. We are also recognised as leaders in support for social enterprise.

Join us and you will find a unique, democratic and international community, a great range of staff benefits and access to a vibrant array of cultural activities in the beautiful city of Oxford. For more information, please visit www.ox.ac.uk/about/organisation.

Saïd Business School

Saïd Business School blends the best of new and old. We are a vibrant and innovative business school, but yet deeply embedded in an 800 year old world-class university. We create programmes and ideas that have global impact. We educate people for successful business careers, and as a community seek to tackle world-scale problems.

We deliver cutting-edge programmes, including the highly regarded MBA, Executive MBA, a number of specialist MScs, a portfolio of custom and open programmes and accredited diplomas for executives, and we undertake ground-breaking research that transform individuals, organisations, business practice and society. We are an international and outward looking School with our programme participants coming from more than 50 countries.

We seek to be a world-class business school community, embedded in a world-class University, tackling world-scale problems.

Sustainability

Saïd Business School is committed to the highest standards of environmental sustainability, preserving the planet for future generations and acting in a socially sustainable manner. As an employee you are expected to uphold these commitments in accordance with our Environmental Policy. You can learn more about our organisation's sustainability efforts at:

Social Sciences

Oxford Saïd is a department within the Social Sciences Division, one of four academic Divisions in the University, each with considerable devolved budgetary and financial authority; and responsibility for providing a broad strategic focus across its constituent disciplines.

The Social Sciences Division represents the largest grouping of social sciences in the UK: home to a number of outstanding departments and to the internationally ranked Law Faculty; all are committed to research to develop a greater understanding of all aspects of society, from the impact of political, legal and economic systems on social and economic welfare to human rights and security. That research is disseminated through innovative graduate programmes and enhances undergraduate courses. For more information please visit <https://www.socsci.ox.ac.uk>.

Important information for candidates

Data Privacy

Please note that any personal data submitted to the University as part of the job application process will be processed in accordance with the GDPR and related UK data protection legislation. For further information, please see the University's Privacy Notice for Job Applicants at <https://compliance.admin.ox.ac.uk/job-applicant-privacy-policy>.

The University's Policy on Data Protection is available at <https://compliance.admin.ox.ac.uk/data-protection-policy>.

The University's policy on retirement

The University operates an Employer Justified Retirement Age (EJRA) for very senior research posts at grade RSIV/D35 and clinical equivalents E62 and E82 of 30 September before the 70th birthday. The justification for this is explained at <https://hr.admin.ox.ac.uk/the-ejra>.

For existing employees, any employment beyond the retirement age is subject to approval through the procedures <https://hr.admin.ox.ac.uk/the-ejra>.

There is no normal or fixed age at which staff in posts at other grades have to retire. Staff at these grades may elect to retire in accordance with the rules of the applicable pension scheme, as may be amended from time to time.

Equality of opportunity

Entry into employment with the University and progression within employment will be determined only by personal merit and the application of criteria which are related to the duties of each particular post and the relevant salary structure. In all cases, ability to perform the job will be the primary consideration. No applicant or member of staff shall be discriminated against because of age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage or civil partnership, pregnancy or maternity, race, religion or belief, sex or sexual orientation.
